

Olivier Martin is a research assistant at Communications and Remote Sensing Lab. (UCL) since March 2003.

He is involved in the AIDA project (“Autonomy and Intelligence for Dynamic Interactive Applications”).

Co-author of several papers about “Mixed Reality Interactive Storytelling”, he is now focusing his research on his PhD thesis whose subject is “Multimodal Emotion Recognition for Interactive Applications”.